

Abstract

The invention relates to a cutting device for plants, particularly lawnmower, with at least one rotating blade (4a), which cooperates with a stationary counter-blade
5 (13a). Here, at least the blade (4a) and/or the counter-blade (13a) is replaceably arranged in a respective blade support (3a, 14a).